

One of the new measures, introduced on an exceptional basis by Royal Decree Law 8/2020 of 17 March, to deal with the social and economic impact of Covid-19 (Coronavirus), is the preferential nature of remote-working or teleworking. This modality is serving as an alternative mechanism to maintain the activity of the company and the labour relations with the workers, in those organisations where it is possible to adapt to this measure.

In order to comply with the occupational risk prevention regulations, the aforementioned Royal Decree Law, in these cases and on an exceptional basis, self-evaluation carried out voluntarily by the worker will be sufficient.

In this regard, we attach the document that must be sent to the workers who are providing the services by means of remote-working or teleworking, taking into account the particular conditions of their homes, and which must be returned to the employer, if they wish to do so, duly completed.
